WEAK LINK IN TEEN SAFETY

In-depth report highlights problems in multi-agency child protection strategy

By Michael Cox

southend@yellowad.co.uk

A CHILD protection meeting about a vulnerable teenage girl in Southend was not held until several months after concerns about her were raised, inspectors have discovered.

The case study was in findings from an inspection carried out in March by regulators Ofsted, the Care Quality Commission, the Inspectorate Constabulary, Fire and Rescue Services and the Inspectorate Probation.

They were assessing how multiple agencies in Southend respond to child sexual exploitation, children associated with gangs and missing children.

Agencies that were assessed included Southend Council and Essex Police.

In the case of the girl, inspectors found she was supported under a plan after concerns about "her poor mental health, risks of sexual exploitation and conflict between her parents."

But they also discovered that a recommendation to convene a child protection case conference was not acted on for "several months", and that she stopped attending school during that time.

'Improvements are needed, but agencies are making a difference...'

The agencies' practice was described as "reactive rather than proactive" by inspectors, who said that despite recent interventions, the girl's safety had not been significantly improved.

They noted that the council had "worked hard" to improve the quality of assessments and plans, but added that "some assessments lack a sufficiently sharp analysis of children's risks and needs and are not always updated when children's circumstances change".

The quality and timeliness of notifications by the police to the local authority was described as "inconsistent", meaning that some children "may be left at risk of harm".

The agencies were praised in other areas. Inspectors described staff as "tenacious", and the council had achieved improvements in some aspects of safeguarding children's.

Essex Police had "successfully engaged partner agencies and secured sufficient resources to identify the safety of some of the most vulnerable children in Southend", while Operation Raptor had "strengthened the ability of agencies to combat the exploitation [by gangs] of vulnerable children".

Cllr James Courtenay, executive councillor for children and learning, said: "While there are areas for improvement, it is clear from the report that partners across Southend are making a positive difference for vulnerable children."

He added: "This work is incredibly difficult, challenging, complex and demanding."

New mayor reaches out

THE NEW Mayor of Southend was elected at a council meeting last week.

Cllr Derek Jarvis became the borough's 98th mayor at a Civic Centre ceremony on May 10 – attended by hundreds of officials and residents.

He said: "I am looking forward to a very active year ahead and to meeting many organisations in the town as well as mayors from other authorities across Essex which I hope will consolidate mutual aspirations and the leading role of Southend-on-Sea."

Cllr Jarvis was first elected to the Mayor and Mayoress of Southend, Derek and Valerie Jarvis, with the Mayor's officer Adam Tregoning JP council in 2001 and was executive councillor for culture and tourism between 2008 and 2014.

The West Shoebury ward councillor will lead fundraising for Southend Blind Welfare. He replaces Cllr Fay Evans, who raised almost £40,000 towards prostate and breast cancer treatment.

She told the meeting: "I have visited many charities and community groups and seen the fantastic, selfless work they do for borough. My heartfelt thanks also to all who have been so generous in supporting my charities."

Cllr Ann Holland will be the deputy mayor for the forthcoming municipal year.

Hospital's £1m HDU unit to enhance critical care

By Michael Cox

southend@yellowad.co.uk

A £1MILLION high dependency unit for patients needing critical care has been officially opened at Southend Hospital.

The unit, known as the Kitty Hubbard HDU, will care for elective and emergency patients and will initially have four beds.

A hospital spokesman said the unit will strengthen the service provided for people who have had major surgery or those who no longer need intensive care but require specialist monitoring and a higher level of organ support.

It was opened and a plaque unveiled by the hospital's managing director Yvonne Blucher on Tuesday, May 8.

The unit will open to patients at the end of the month.

Blanca Boira Segarra, clinical director for theatres, critical care and anaesthetics, said: "Until now we didn't have a dedicated area for these patients and Kitty Hubbard HDU will support

OPEN: Gill Donohue, senior nurse and lecturer practitioner for the critical care unit, Blanca Boira Segarra, and Sarah Martin, senior sister for critical care in the Kitty Hubbard HDU patients from all specialities across the hospital who need a higher level of care than can be provided on the speciality wards, but who do not need intensive care.

"In HDU the patient and nurse ratio is much higher than in a normal ward, there will be one nurse looking after two patients.

"The new unit will also help us stepping patients down from the intensive care unit before they go back to a normal ward.

"This will have a positive impact on the capacity to admit intensive care patients."

Just over £210,000 was donated towards the project and enabled the hospital's trust to buy medical equipment for the unit.

Donations and legacies to Southend Hospital Charity contributed £152,000, while the other £60,000 came from the Southend Hospital Charitable Foundation For Wards Appeal including £50,000 raised from proceeds generated from the hospital charity shop in Westcliff.

Mick Thwaites, chairman of the foundation, said: "This is just one of twenty areas of the hospital we will be supporting over the next couple of years and I know it will have a big impact on the care of critically ill patients.

"I would like to thank the staff and volunteers of our charity shop in Westcliff and for the tremendous support from the local community."

Children's services to outline action after inspectors' report

Essex Police Assistant Chief Constable Andy Prophet said: "This thorough inspection confirms that strong partnerships are preventing awful crimes every day.

"We will take every possible element of learning from this report and work with partners to develop even better outcomes that improve the life chances of our young people and keep them from harm."

Elizabeth Chidgey, independent chairman of the Southend

Local Safeguarding Children Board (LSCB), said she fully accepted the report's findings and was "pleased to see inspectors acknowledging that the issues referenced in the report are already being addressed."

She added: "I have put in place structures to improve how the board functions and meet regularly with senior leaders from the local authority and partner agencies which has already instigated some positive challenge from the board."

Ms Chidgey also vowed to push forward with improvements so that the LSCB "fulfils its role as a critical and independent eye on the many partner agencies involved in tackling issues like child sexual exploitation and gangs."

Inspectors said the next steps needed were for the council's director of children's services to prepare a written statement outlining planned action as a response to the report's findings.

YA's Jeevesie in big screen debut

BRIAN Jeeves is no stranger to Wembley Stadium, but the 49-year-old Yellow Advertiser sport correspondent will be swapping the press box for the Great Hall when the big British movie of 2018 - The Bromley Boys - gets its world premiere at the home of football later this month.

Jeevesie, who has covered many Premier League and international matches at Wembley for the Yellow Advertiser, became involved with the film almost two years ago following a telephone call to his friend, fellow author David Roberts.

Brian explained: "When I found out that Dave's wonderful book, The Bromley Boys, was to be adapted as a screenplay, I gave him a call to congratulate him. I was gobsmacked when he asked if I wanted to be in it."

The Bromley Boys is a funny, touching coming of age football memoir played out to the sights and sounds of late 1960s/early '70s Britain.

Adapted from Mr Roberts' hilarious novel, the film, starring Martine McCutcheon, Alan Davies, Jamie Foreman and Brenock O'Connor, recounts the author's highs and the lows supporting his beloved Bromley FC through their worst ever season.

Brian spent seven days working with the cast and crew, filling several on-screen roles as a support actor.

TJ Herbert, CEO of Itchy Fish Films, decided that the original publication was perfect for the cinema, and it became apparent to him and fellow producer, Dean Fisher, that Brian was keen to learn more about what goes on behind the camera as well as in front of it.

"We could see that Brian was keen to learn about everything that was going on and we invited him along for the ride," TJ said.

"He has a strong football knowledge and has helped promote the film as well as providing material for press releases leading up to the world premiere."

Brian said: "It was an incredible experience.

"I was speaking to Dave during filming at Crockenhill FC and telling him what a surreal experience I was having. He said: 'How do you think I feel?' Martine McCutcheon is my mum and Alan Davies is my dad'."

Dave, who describes himself as a 62-year-old, who is 15 in the film, has supported Bromley for 50 years.

"TJ rang me about seven years ago now. I thought that'll never happen, but I'll agree with it anyway," said Dave.

"But TJ never gave up, and I started to realise that this might happen. Of course, then I started to get excited."

Despite appearing several times during the film, Brian explained the reason behind his preferred choice for his portrayal in the movie credits. "I'm a huge Southend United fan and my late father followed West Ham. I remember as a teenager telling him I'd never follow the Hammers, but here I am covering them for the YA and playing a fan in the film."

The Bromley Boys will premiere at Wembley Stadium on Thursday, May 24. The film can be seen at selected cinemas around the UK from June 1. Premiere tickets are available via https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/the-bromley-boys-world-premiere-wembley-stadium-24th-may-2018-tickets-

Half marathon in memory of gran

A RAYLEIGH woman is set to run the Southend Half Marathon to raise money for Havens Hospices which cared for her late grandmother.

Deanne Jones will take part in the event on Sunday, June 10, in memory of her grandmother, Alice Dent.

Alice was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2015 which spread to her lymph nodes.

In November 2016, Alice was referred to Fair Havens Hospice by her GP and died there at the age of 88 the following month.

Deanne, who is running her first half marathon, said: "I have been training three times a week with my two-year-old son, Henry, sitting patiently whilst I buggy run the miles with him.

"I turned 43 this year and decided to take on a new challenge - when I saw the half marathon was organised and in aid of Havens Hospices it seemed so fitting to run and raise money for the charity that made such a difference to not just Nan, but the rest of the family.

"I know Nan would tell me I'm 'mad' to run such a long way, but she would be really proud of me.

"She was such a positive and beautiful person who never once complained about her illness. I'm going to use my memory of her strength and incredible joyfulness to take me across that finish line."

POSITIVE INFLUENCE: Alice Dent and Deanne Jones

Registration for the half marathon is open until Friday, June 1.

The cost to register is £21 for affiliated runners who register before the deadline, while non-affiliated runners and wheelchair athletes will pay £23.

Runners can sign up on the day, but there will be an additional £5 charge, a charity spokesman said.

For more information or to sign up visit www.havenshospices.org.uk/southendhalf or call 01702 221658.

100's MORE UNBEATABLE DEALS FROM ONE OF THE BEST GARDEN CENTRES IN ESSEX

Airport tackles rogue drones

A DRONE surveillance system was tested in a week-long trial at Southend Airport.

The IPS-METIS Skyperion Solution was put through its paces in a bid to ward off the hazard of rogue drones.

The trial was to test the technology's ability to monitor, detect, track and record the activity of drones in the vicinity of the airport.

A series of "tame" drones were deployed near the airport to test how the equipment worked in an "as live" situation.

The equipment involves two airfield sensors, which offer 360-degree coverage for up to 4km, feeding back information to a control station located with the Air Traffic Control team.

Damon Knight, head of the airport's air traffic services, said: "We do not have any outstanding issues with 'rogue' drone operations at London Southend, but we have had some sightings near the airport which fortunately have not affected our operations."

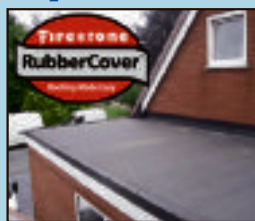

EYE IN THE SKY: Drone surveillance test at Southend Airport

"However, we recognise that there is a wider problem for the aviation industry and so as an airport we have been very involved in understanding how we can deal with the issue and helping to explore ways to co-ordinate drone activity in the existing aviation operational framework."

Stand up to these green belt bullies

A LIST (SHLAA) is to be prepared in Castle Point of land which will be discussed with a view to development.

The land grabbers are already on the prowl with tape measures in hand hoping to make a quick profit at the cost of local residents.

They have no interest in trees and their eco value and are happy to destroy animal habitats and areas where they frequently forage for food.

So who are these who think they have a right to destroy the green belt woodlands purely for financial gain?

Well I am thinking of two that come over from two other counties in an attempt to claim and develop our green belt, thereby destroying our local environment for us, our children and all future generations.

Having been active since the 1950s they continue to destroy our countryside.

So what can we do to protect our environment?

We must fight them and demand that local councillors and MPs support and work for us.

Organise your street and use the media.

If they go on land that you care about, take pictures of them and video them because they don't like it.

We need to protect our green belt and wildlife and I think that Castle Point councillors agree although their hands may be tied by Westminster.

Scrap plan for museum on seafront

IN the aftermath of the election there has been a reshuffle in Southend Council's cabinet and it's out with the Minister for Disaster Anne Holland and in with the new broom James Courtney.

We have to say that like most of the businesses in Southend we think that finally getting rid of Mrs Holland from Enterprise, Tourism and Culture is something to be celebrated.

We approach the appointment of Mr Courtney to the position with an open mind and a hope for a brighter and more successful future for the town and its businesses.

With this in mind we call upon Cllr Courtney to immediately take action to mitigate some of the damage done by his predecessor by scrapping the Safety Advisory Group (SAG).

SAG is the shadowy quango set up by the council a couple of years ago as a tool to discourage any outside bodies or members of the public from running events in our town and as recent events such as the Shakedown fiasco have shown, SAG has been very successful in the council's campaign to devastate our seafront and tourism economy.

Furthermore, we call upon Cllr Courtney as a fresh face, untainted by previous bad decisions, to do the right thing with regards to our cliffs by drawing a line under the years of deception and outright fantasy politics and announce the scrapping of the seafront museum proposal.

UKIP protest flags flying for 17 years?

SOUTHEND Council has "cordially invited" those responsible for protesting our leaving the European Union (if that certain lunacy does actually come to pass the more we find out what the consequences really will be) via the "EU Flag Stunt" to remove them, as forcing the council to do so would not be a good use of taxpayers' money.

Excuse me ... while those darn glow-in-the-dark furlong signs defacing the council's original metric markers for promenade athletes, put up in protest by UKIP in 2001, are still there?

So in the name of fairness in a Brexit-divided land why not just let the flipping flags be?

Or take all such public protest down.

If that is too much to ask, why so? Indeed, how on God's good green earth has UKIP's seaside publicity stunt been allowed to stand for a full 17 years anyway?

Tributes to warm, kind Dame Tessa

IF you enjoyed the 2012 London Olympics then please spare a thought for Dame Tessa Jowell who died on Saturday, May 12 after battling a brain tumour.

Dame Tessa did more than anyone to bring the Olympics to London.

As Culture Secretary in 2002 she suggested that London bid for the games when everyone else thought that would be pointless (Paris was guaranteed to win, apparently) and a costly waste of millions of pounds.

First she convinced PM Tony Blair of the merits of a serious London bid, and then did likewise with the rest of the Labour cabinet.

Once the bid was up and running she helped to recruit Lord Seb Coe to lead the London 2012 bid team.

As Olympics Minister she was an essential member of the bid team that convinced International Olympic Committee (IOC) members to award the games to London.

She then ensured that budget was made available to ensure the construction and preparation of Olympic venues, facilities and transport links was completed on time.

When the world economy crashed in 2008 there was pressure on the government, under new PM Gordon Brown, to cut back on the Olympic Games budget.

Dame Tessa ensured that didn't happen.

Lord Coe said: "Tessa was simply incredible. She fearlessly lay down in the road in front of the juggernaut that was Gordon Brown, and in the end won through."

I keep hearing about a kinder, gentler politics. If there is such a thing then it was Dame Tessa, who had no political enemies and was very popular across the political divide (as well as outside politics).

As vice-chairman of Lewisham Council, I was lucky enough to meet her when I helped to start the 2006 London Marathon (there are starts in Greenwich and Lewisham).

Dame Tessa was as warm and kind as all the tributes have suggested. Her legacy is an Olympic Games that inspired millions in the UK and across the world, a stadium that will host sporting and music events for years to come, and a regeneration of East London that will benefit millions of people who live and work there.

Help needed in Golden Mile research

I AM researching the families and people who may have worked on Pier Hill, Marine Parade Southend, the Kursaal or Peter Pan's over the decades.

Were your ancestors landlords of the various pubs, or owners or managers of the various cafes or restaurants?

I'm interested in all aspects of the history of the Golden Mile.

Look after your teeth

Advertisement feature

NATIONAL Smile Month is the largest and longest-running campaign to promote good oral health.

Together, with thousands of individuals and organisations, it highlights three key messages, all of which go a long way in helping us develop and maintain a healthy mouth. They are:

- Brush your teeth last thing at night and on at least one other occasion with a fluoride toothpaste.
- Cut down on how often you have sugary foods and drinks.
- Visit your dentist regularly, as often as they recommend.

Ultimately, the aim is to help us achieve good physical and mental wellbeing by improving our oral health.

Local papers provide news you can trust

Advertisement feature

LOCAL press in print and digital is the most trusted source for local news and information, way ahead of search engines and social media, according to new YouGov research published for the first time this week.

Commissioned by Local Media Works, the research found that local newspapers in print and digital are more than three times more trusted for local news and information than social media platforms such as Facebook and LinkedIn.

Local newspapers, which are read by 42 million British adults in print and digital, scored highest for trust with 74 per cent of respondents agreeing that they trusted the news and information in their local newspaper.

Local papers are the most trusted of all the other sources, coming ahead of local commercial TV and local commercial radio (both 73 per cent), search engines (43 per cent), social media (22 per cent) and other websites (39 per cent).

Craig Nayman, Local Media Works chairman, said: "This survey provides yet more compelling evidence of a resurgence of trust in traditional media outlets, with local media leading the way, as the public become increasingly aware of the dangers associated with social platforms and fake news.

"In the current climate, trust is at a premium and advertisers large and small must recognise the clear advantages of partnering with local media in order to communicate with their audiences in a safe, trusted, and highly effective environment."

Justin Marshall, associate director, YouGov – Digital, Media and Technology Sector, said: "As shown in the data from this research, trust in social media as a source of news is particularly low, followed by general internet searches, whereas trust in established news brands is far greater."

The YouGov findings echo those of the recent Edelman Trust Barometer 2018 which found that trust in traditional media in the UK is at its highest level in six years (up 13 points to 61 per cent) while trust in social platforms has dropped to 24 per cent and trust in search engines has dropped to 47 per cent.

The paper that gets things done

LOCAL newspapers perform a truly vital service, keeping residents informed about their councils, courts, police forces, hospitals and other statutory services. But at their best, they also have the power to directly impact on the communities they serve, fighting for truth and justice.

This week is Local Newspaper Week (May 14-20), and it is also the Yellow Advertiser's 42nd birthday.

As we enter our 43rd year, we are pleased to be continuing our decades-long tradition of award-winning investigative journalism, which continues to influence police and council decisions.

The YA titles have the largest total distribution across Essex.

Last month, chief reporter Charles Thomson was named Britain's best young investigative journalist, beating two BBC broadcasters to scoop the inaugural Ray Fitzwalter Award for Investigative Journalism.

We won for our ongoing investigation into a historic paedophile ring in Shoeburyness, which has forced Essex Police to reopen an almost 30-year-old case and resulted in at least one arrest.

This was the third national award our Shoebury investigation has won since 2016, and this Friday, May 18, we are due attend a ceremony at Savoy Place, London, where we are nominated for a fourth.

But this investigation is just the latest of many causes the YA has championed over four decades, winning plaudits and trophies along the way.

In 2016, we were nominated for a national Society of Editors award for the "remarkable impact" our work had on the environment in Basildon and Thurrock. Our shortlisted work included blocking a council plan to stop maintaining wildlife sites, and setting in motion the sacking of Basildon Council's planning chairman.

A year earlier the YA won a HoldTheFrontPage award for the Justice for Justin campaign, forcing authorities to block a dangerous path after the death of musician Justin Bowman on Dry Street, Basildon.

In 2013 and 2014, the YA helped get almost 250 youngsters into work with a campaign that inspired local businesses and councils to create new apprenticeships. Other award-winning campaigns have included saving Thorpe Bay School from closure, winning a legal battle to publish a damning Southend Hospital inspection report, forcing local shops to become more wheelchair accessible, and a successful legal fight against Essex County Council which exposed chronic backlogs in the coroner service.

In addition to battling the establishment on behalf of local people, the YA has harnessed the generosity of its readers for many charity appeals over the years – from collecting sweets for children on landmine awareness courses in Kosovo, to twice shipping clothes, food and toiletries to children in a Bulgarian orphanage.

Just five months ago, our readers donated hundreds of toys to a YA collection for children spending Christmas at Basildon and Southend hospitals.

The YA is proud to serve its community and will continue to hold authority to account on behalf of its readers.

MICHAEL LIVES!

TRIBUTE: Britt Quentin as Michael Jackson

By Lewis Berrill

features@yellowad.co.uk

THRILLER, the spectacular musical homage to king of pop Michael Jackson will be moonwalking in to Southend next month.

The show, direct from London's West End, will play at Cliffs Pavilion from Monday to Saturday, June 4-9.

In its record-breaking 10th year, Thriller Live is a spectacular concert created to celebrate the career of the world's greatest entertainer.

Thriller Live has now been seen by 4,483,254 million people in 33 countries and played over 5,929 performances worldwide, never failing to get a standing ovation!

It has travelled around the world, taking audiences on a visual, audio and electrifying journey through the magic of Michael's 40-year musical history.

American Britt Quentin, who stars in the show, said: "It feels like a concert. It's not a musical as such, it's more like a concert with a live band, concert lighting and concert sound. There's no real storyline, it's just hit after hit after hit and at several points in the show people in the audience are up dancing, clapping along and singing along."

Britt has been playing the role since 2009. "Within my first year of being with the show I thought, 'This is something that's going to be around for a while and people are going to enjoy it for a long time' because of the reaction I was able to witness," he said.

"Seeing people react to Michael's music as we perform it, I knew we were onto something special."

The show is a powerful two-hour journey of non-stop hits from pop to rock, soul to disco in a show that pays homage to Jackson's legendary live performances and innovative dance moves executed with flair, precision and passion in a show that you will never forget.

Expect

your favourite songs delivered by an exceptionally talented cast and band, including: I Want You Back, ABC, Can You Feel It, Off the Wall, The Way You Make Me Feel, Smooth Criminal, Beat It, Billie Jean, Dirty Diana, Bad, Rock With You, They Don't Care About Us, Dangerous, Heal the World, and Thriller plus many more.

Asked what his favourite song to perform is, Britt replied: "It changes over the years because Michael's back catalogue is so big. Generally for me it's whatever is the newest addition to the show so right now it's Remember The Time. The song used to be in the show, then it went away for about six years and now it's come back, which I'm very happy about."

"I would say Man In The Mirror is harder to sing than people might think. It's not his highest-pitched song but it's very long and it's the same high notes over and over again. It's very challenging."

The show changes each year with new numbers added, and features specially created video footage and effects and dazzling choreography by the show's award-winning director, Gary Lloyd.

Thriller Live first Moonwalked into London's Lyric Theatre on Shaftesbury Avenue in 2009.

Thriller Live holds the record as the longest ever run of a show since the theatre started entertaining the capital in December 1888.

Dead cert

DEADPOOL 2 (15, 119 mins)

DIRECTED by "one of the guys who killed the dog in John Wick", Deadpool 2 is a gleefully irreverent sequel which proves you can have too much of a good thing.

The weight of giddy expectation on David Leitch's slam-bang sequel compels returning screenwriters Rhett Reese and Paul Wernick to chase bigger laughs and outlandish thrills with tongue-in-cheek contributions to the script from leading man Ryan Reynolds.

A rumbustious two hours are crammed to bursting with pop culture references, droll one-liners and machine-gun profanities that try a smidgen too hard to push an envelope that had already been licked to absurdity.

For every burst of gags that hits the target one punchline veers off course, and a protracted sequence involving the title character waiting for his body parts to regrow is a detour too far, even for a franchise that thrives on the ridiculous.

Reynolds' chisel-jawed charisma atones for some sins and Josh Brolin is a worthy addition to the cast as a time-travelling assassin.

Former Special Forces

operative Wade Wilson (Reynolds), receives a swift kick to the nether portions from Lady Luck as he continues to romance sex club worker Vanessa (Morena Baccarin).

Plunged into a pit of despair, Wade is rescued by X-Men buddies Colossus (voiced by Stefan Kapicic) and Negasonic Teenage Warhead (Brianna Hildebrand), who now has an electrified girlfriend (Shioli Kutsuna).

The mutants enrol Deadpool as a trainee and for his first assignment, the wise-cracking rogue attempts to subdue a misunderstood teenager called Russell (Julian Dennison), who is being hunted by futuristic soldier Cable (Brolin).

"You're just a clown dressed up as a sex toy," Cable growls during an early skirmish.

"So dark," counters the antihero. "You sure you're not from the DC universe?"

To defeat his adversary, Wade forms a "forward-thinking, gender-neutral" band of misfits called X-Force comprising Bedlam (Terry Crews), Domino (Zazie Beetz), Shatterstar (Lewis Tan), Zeitgeist (Bill Skarsgård) and lovable everyman Peter (Rob Delaney).

"I don't know much about this Cable fella," muses Peter, "but I guarantee he hasn't killed as many people as melanoma has."

Deadpool 2 puts its own spin on the Marvel Comics formula of spectacular action sequences, earthy humour and heartbreak.

Rising star Dennison, who was a pint-sized hoot in Hunt For The Wilderpeople, is short-changed by the script, but doesn't get lost in the blitzkrieg of digital effects.

In a filthy-minded tug of war with the first film, Leitch's sequel comes off a fitfully entertaining second best.

Taking the risk out of property rental

When choosing a lettings agent you want a company that's experienced and reputable, with access to a large number of reliable tenants.

Airport Lettings is based at the heart of Stansted Airport and London Southend, one of the UK's fastest growing airports.

For 18 years we've made the most of that connection to help match reliable tenants with discerning landlords. After all, if you didn't trust the people who work at the airport, you'd never get on a plane!

Stobart Air are recruiting pilots and cabin crew who will be based at Southend, so we need high quality furnished and unfurnished accommodation to meet the needs of these vital new staff members.

"I will not offer you any tenants that I would not be happy to have in my own home."

Ford Fiesta goes Active

By David Whinyates

IT may not be the ultimate off-roader, but the latest member of Ford's growing Fiesta family has plenty to offer those with an active lifestyle.

Appropriately named the Fiesta Active, the five-door newcomer is, says Ford, SUV-inspired and comes with additional cladding, custom bumpers, unique 17-inch alloy wheel designs and roof rails to help carry bicycles or sports equipment.

But it's more than just a cosmetic job. Ride height is raised by 18mm to provide greater ability over rough road tracks and track is increased by 10mm over the standard Fiesta hatchback.

Under the skin, the front shock absorbers have been optimized for light off-road work and feature a new hydraulic rebound stopper to smooth out bumps or jolts when driving over rough surfaces while the suspension geometry has been upgraded with bespoke settings for the springs and shock absorbers.

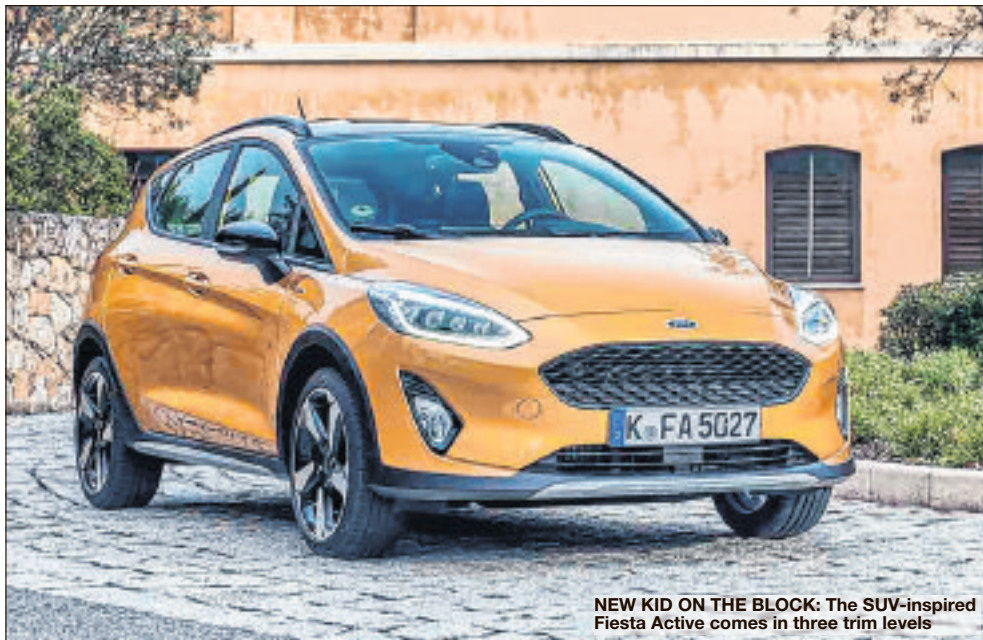

Powertrain options include Ford's multi-award-winning 1.0-litre EcoBoost petrol engine offering up to 140 PS and 1.5-litre TDCi diesel engine offering up to 120 PS.

The petrol engine is available with either six speed manual or six speed auto transmissions, the latter complete with paddle shifters.

The six-speed manual box features three driving modes including a "slippery" setting which adjusts electronic stability and traction control settings for increased confidence on surfaces with reduced grip.

The bespoke interior has sports seats with exclusive materials and designs, leather steering wheel and gearknob plus a voice-activated connectivity and entertainment system with touch screen Bluetooth and twin USB ports also fitted.

The Fiesta Active is one sale now in three trim levels – Active 1, Active B&O PLAY and Active X – with prices starting from £17,995.

HAMMERS FINISH WITH A FLOURISH

CROWD PLEASER: Manuel Lanzini celebrates scoring his second and West Ham's third goal

Marko scorcher and Lanzini double end West Ham's season on a high

Football

West Ham United 3-1 Everton
Brian Jeeves reporting from the London Stadium

WEST HAM United brought down the curtain on a frustrating Premier League campaign with a comfortable 3-1 victory over Everton on Sunday.

Despite being regarded by many as a dead rubber there were a number of talking points for the supporters of both clubs to chew the fat over ahead of the match, not least, the uncertainty over the futures of both managers – who adding to the twist, had each held office at both clubs.

David Moyes had previously refused to comment on whether he would remain in east London next season, while Sam Allardyce, already under fire over the style of football his side plays, had come under scrutiny following an alleged bust-up with Wayne Rooney, an incident that had reportedly seen the ex-England skipper storm away from the Toffees' training ground with a move to DC United in the MLS his possible next destination.

Moyes selected the same starting 11 that had shown resolve three days earlier when Manchester United were held to a goalless draw, while Rooney's exclusion from the Everton side appeared to back suggestions that the situation between player and manager is now irretrievable.

It was a dominant start from the home side. Marko Arnautovic's shot on the turn was blocked by Michael Keane, then England keeper, Jordan Pickford, produced a tremendous one-handed save to deny Mark Noble, this after the talismanic Austrian's precision pass had fashioned an opening.

Joao Mario's low drive from distance drifted fractionally the wrong side of an upright, however, West Ham survived a scare when Adrian thwarted Oumar Niasse with his feet after Angelo Ogbonna was caught napping by the Senegalese frontman.

Soon after, the pair continued their duel, with the Spanish stopper again coming out on top with a smart save low to his right.

But West Ham were generally playing the better football, and shortly before the break, they took the lead. The busy Lanzini fired low past Pickford from 20 yards having latched onto a ball in from Cheikhou Kouyate. It was no more than the home side deserved.

Aaron Cresswell was off-target as West Ham looked to double their advantage immediately after the break.

Just after the hour mark West Ham all but sealed the points. Arnautovic turned 30 yards from goal, skipped away from Keane before unleashing an absolute thunderbolt with his right-foot, leaving Pickford and the Everton backline bewildered as it fizzed high into the net.

Arnautovic thought he had added a third minutes later. His stinging header chalked off by a hawk-eyed assistant while a combination of Adrian and the post kept out Niasse as Everton rallied.

Niasse had looked the Toffees most dangerous asset going forward, and it was he who reduced the arrears a quarter of an hour from time, sweeping home from close range with the Hammers rearguard caught cold. But the goal did very little to dampen West Ham spirits, and within eight minutes they re-established their two-goal advantage.

Lanzini curled majestically beyond Pickford with another late contender for goal of the season.

Hammers fans must have been wondering where these recent performances have been hiding for much of the campaign.

This victory lifted West Ham into 13th place in the Premier League.

But most Hammers fans would agree that the final position papers over the cracks.

It will take a major overhaul of the club's playing staff to ensure they are not amongst those struggling towards the wrong end of the table this time next season.

Moyes was clearly delighted after the game.

"I thought we played really well with the ball," he said.

"There were signs against Leicester, signs against Manchester United. The players are improving.

"When I go back to when I took over, and how I was trying to get results by hook or by crook, it certainly looks much more structured. We've got a very good way of playing."

The Scotsman refused to be drawn on whether he would be at the London Stadium next season, adding: "We will meet and talk I think next week. We've not arranged a date."

Allardyce was in an altogether less jovial mood, particularly when asked about his own future as well as that of Rooney.

He said: "I can't quite say confident, after all the rumours I'm reading in the paper because generally there's no smoke without fire, is there? But we'll wait and see when we meet up (with the Everton board) next week," he said.

On Rooney's situation, Allardyce added: "I don't know other than it's up to Wayne, his representatives, the board of directors and what they do. I think everybody will know by the end of the week."

"And just to stop everybody talking and writing nonsense there is no problem between me and Wayne Rooney."

"We have been very professional and adult with our conversations."

Talking about the match, Allardyce said: "Who got the better chances? I thought we did."

"I think because Adrian was so good today with the clear-cut chances we had and missed because of his outstanding goalkeeping, we could have easily acquired a draw."

"But I think the quality of West Ham's goals, with the two in the second half, was ultimately the difference."

West Ham United: Adrian, Aaron Cresswell (James Collins 88'), Pablo Zabaleta, Marko Arnautovic, Cheikhou Kouyate, Manuel Lanzini (Pedro Obiang 86'), Mark Noble (Capt), Joao Mario, Angelo Ogbonna, Arthur Masuaku (Edimilson Fernandes 21'), Declan Rice Subs not used: Joe Hart, Andy Carroll, Javier Hernandez, Patrice Evra.

Everton: Jordan Pickford, Leighton Baines, Michael Keane, Phil Jagielka, Cenk Tosun (Theo Walcott 60'), Idrissa Gueye, Oumar Niasse, Seamus Coleman, Ramiro Funes Mori (Davy Klaassen 46'), Tom Davies (Yannick Bolais 61') Subs not used: Joel Robles, Cuco Martina, Mason Holgate, Jonjo Kenny

Non-league round-up

Braintree back in the big time

By Brian Jeeves

BRAINTREE Town will be playing in the top division of the National League after holding their nerve to win a dramatic penalty shootout in their play-off final with Hampton & Richmond Borough at the Beveree.

Diaz Wright scored the all-important spot kick as Braintree prevailed 4-3 after the match – watched by a bumper crowd of 3,127 – had seen the sides play out a tense 1-1 draw over 120 minutes.

Max Kretzschmar had given Hampton an early advantage. But Reece Grant nodded the Iron level before the break, much to the delight of their travelling supporters who had seen their side relegated to the National South 12 months ago.

Leyton Orient have begun the process of reshaping their squad ahead of the new National League season with the announcement that a number of players will be not be returning to Brisbane Road. Nathan Mavila, Rian McLean and Charley Barker, along with Second Year Scholars, Toby Stevenson and Andrew Camilo-Tayaco have been released by the east London club, while Jack Caprice, Christian Scales and Romuald Boco are available for transfer.

Manager Justin Edinburgh has offered new deals to goalkeeper Sam Sargent as well as Ruel Sotiriou and third-year scholar, Arthur Janata. The former Tottenham Hotspur defender has also moved quickly to extend Josh Korma and Myles Judd's stay in E10.

Concord Rangers manager, Sammy Moore, has continued to reshape the squad at his new club, with several arrivals and departures announced at the Aspect Arena.

Winger Danny Green joins from Chelmsford City. The 29-year-old accumulated a wealth of Football League experience with Dagenham & Redbridge, Charlton Athletic, MK Dons and Luton Town.

Meanwhile, midfielder, Ryan Hayes, arrives from Dartford. The Beach Boys have also captured, former West Ham United and Barnsley youth player, Nana Boakye-Yiadom.

Boakye-Yiadom arrives on a one-year deal, having most recently represented both Dulwich Hamlet and Leatherhead.

Assistant manager Jack Midson was clearly delighted with the club's latest acquisition, saying: "Nana is a very quick and powerful forward who strikes fear into defenders. He has a point to prove next year."

Popular captain, Steve Cawley, will be leaving the club after five years. The 26-year-old midfielder, who has topped the scoring charts in four of his five seasons, has sighted excessive travelling and workload for his reasoning behind the decision. Concord also confirmed that Billy Roast and Lewis Knight will not be returning ahead of the 2018/19 campaign.

The Essex Senior League has confirmed that Stansted, Wadham Lodge, Burnham Ramblers and Hackney Wick will all be relegated to the new Eastern Senior League – South Division.

Selected highlights from the ProKit UK Essex Olympian League saw Leigh Ramblers edge out Basildon Town by the odd goal in three as the pair met in a Premier Division clash at Gardiners Way, while Kelvedon Hatch and Harold Wood Athletic played out an entertaining 2-2 draw.

In Division One, Old Southendian drew 1-1 with Snaresbrook at Garon Park, and it was the same outcome at Polo Fields as Hutton and Buckhurst Hill shared the spoils.

Sungate proved to be the division's big winners of the day, thrashing Harold Hill 5-1.

Newham United hit six without reply in the Division Two encounter with Upminster at Cave Road.
